If you've seen enough pictures of the adidas matchcourt Yeezy Boost high-top that has taken the internet by storm the last couple of weeks then perhaps these new lows will be a breath of fresh air. adidas seems to be giving Kanye West A LOT of creative control over his fashion and sneaker line and is allowing Kanye to create a number of different silhouettes and colorways. In the pictures above he was spotted with a low-top edition of the adidas Yeezy Boost that draws comparisons to other lifestyle sneakers like the Nike Roshe Run and ZX Flux, which is also from the Three Stripes. There's no word on when to expect a release date for these lows, I mean everyone who wants a pair of the high hasn't even gotten one yet?

Also expected to release around the same time as the adidas Yeezy Boost 350 V2 Blue Tint is the adidas Yeezy Boost 350 V2 Semi Frozen Yellow. Still skeptical whether this is a real colorway or not? The latest images show the shoe on the feet of none other than Kanye himself, so for all you doubters out there, yes, it's a real colorway and it's on the adidas beckenbauer way. The adidas Yeezy Boost 350 V2 Semi Frozen Yellow comes with a combination of Yellow and Dark Grey Primeknit upper placed on top of a Yellow Boost midsole. Just like the Blue Tint version, this pair also comes with subtle Red hits noted on the signature "SPLY-350" branding on the side panels and the stitching on the heel tab. Additional Yellow is found on the adidas classic laces, lining and the actual heel tab. When it comes to making a bold statement, this is without a doubt the loudest Yeezy we've ever seen, right?

With today's separation of stars amongst Nike, Jordan Brand (kind of) and adidas, it would be impossible to see a commercial like this today. The closest we would have is a remake with maybe the Nike Hyperdunk featuring LeBron James, Kobe Bryant, Kevin Durant, Kyrie Irving, Paul Pierce and James Harden. A nice collection of stars and all, but I don't think they come close to matching the unintentional comedy of the 80s team. And as much as I think of the world of Velvet Hoop, Kevin McHale has the New God Flow going for him. The force is strong with Yeezy and the new all adidas nmds black 750 had everyone talking all week leading up to yesterday's release. adidas handled the release very well considering the frenzy that came with releasing this second Yeezy 750 Boost colorway.

Above you will find some of the shoes she placed the more focus on, once being the adidas Yeezy 350 Boost and the adidas Yeezy 500. From the pairs that she shared, they all come dressed in neutral hues. The Yeezy 350 V2 and Yeezy 500 shown above are given revamped looks that have never released to the public. Not pictured are the new 700 colorways coming in Black, Grey/Silver and Black/Grey-Silver, along with past Yeezy releases. How many of you would want to see these drop? Stay tuned as the story develops. The Kith x adidas Consortium 4D is part of an exclusive Futurecraft 4D project this year that also featured collaborations with retailers Sneakersnstuff, Invincible, and FootPatrol.

This style looks familiar since it's inspired from Kith's Ultra Boost Mid "Aspen" colorway that debuted in 2016. The new model comes in slightly taller with its extended collar length, and lighter multicolor hues across its Primeknit upper. Finally, the main highlight is the signature Light Green Futurecraft 4D midsole to top it all off. Look for the Kith x adidas Consortium 4D at Kith flagship stores and online on November 2. Always keep it locked to KicksOnFire for the latest in sneaker news, release dates and where to. The Kith x Naked x adidas NMD City Sock 2 is presented in Sandstone and Pink colorways executed with mélange Primeknit uppers. The adidas Three Stripes logo appears in metallic silver on white premium leather runner panels down the middle of the sneakers.

The same quality leather is utilized for heel pulls, which display asymmetrical Kith and Naked branding. This new iteration of the adidas nmd mens City Sock remains laceless, but now features a foldover detail on the lateral side for increased accessibility. Other updates include debossed details on the lateral side of the BOOST midsoles, as opposed to its predecessor's pegs. This type of event not only serves as a marketplace for kicks, but a networking event for all sorts of sneaker fanatics; OGs to the newer generations. From sneakerheads rockin' Nike SBs, Air Jordans, Lebrons, KDs, adidas, Yeezys, Foams, and even Louis Vuittons. Sneaker crews such as HeatSeekerKrew (Tom & Process https://www.toho-star.com/images/a/adidas_nmd_mens-254dvo.jpg) and Sole High were present in the building.
