The must-have sneaker of this hot summer season is back in kids sizes. Champs Sports reports that they've just received stock of the Adidas UltraBoost Men "Triple White" in kids sizes, which means that your little ones and even the ladies can get in on the hype that's lived up to every word.

Ready and waiting to be one of the most coveted colorways of the Adidas UltraBoost Women yet, today we get another look at the upcoming "Multicolor" version. This time we see what the rainbow-colored Primeknit upper with white cage and bright red heel counter will look like on foot, and we're guessing quite a few of you will like what you see.

If you happened to miss out on last month's "Cookies and Cream" Adidas UltraBoost Sale, well then you are in luck, as the Three Stripes has another pair right around the corner. Dressed in the flavorful color combination of black, and white, this tasty offering takes on a bit of a different look than what is usually expected out of a pair with this monicker. Primarily, these offerings sport a mixture of hues on its knit upper, while this time around, Adidas UltraBoost Cheap is a more clear striped design that separates the black from the white.
