With the Swoosh being one of the world's most recognized logos, Nike undoubtedly cherishes and understands the value of the check. So when it comes to celebrating the 50th anniversary of the symbol, it's unsurprising to see the brand go all out with the extensive "First Use" pack that continues to grow. Adding to the collection is a Nike Air Max Plus Women that flaunts a University Blue look.

Throughout its nearly six-decade history, Nike has rendered, remixed, and revisited a handful of logos beyond its classic Swoosh. An upcoming Nike Air Max Plus Men commemorates the brand's and its Air Max line's many insignias via an overbranded mudguard, similar to the toeguards of a recently-revealed Air Max 95.

Despite the use of overbranding, the model flaunts a clean, streamlined look that starts with a plush, white mesh base. Nike Air Max Plus Cheap UK signature wavy TPU design lines are also in white, camouflaging into the uppers. Hints of Neon are used sparingly, primarily found on the lace loops, outsole, and the black and Neon gradient midsole piece. The most notable detail of this Tuned Air silhouette is the gray mudguard that wraps around the entire model, which features a pattern of various Nike Air Max Plus Sale logos. Since the overbranded pattern is in tonal grey, a sleek look is still maintained.
