Water polo, an officially recognized sport, is prominently featured in various sporting events worldwide. To cater to the betting needs of enthusiasts, M88 has opened a platform for bettors keen on this sport. But how does the game work? What's the process for betting on water polo at M88? Let's wintips delve into the detailed answers through the following article.

Understanding Water Polo Betting on M88: Water polo, known as Water Polo in English, is a team sport played in water. Each team consists of 7 members, including 6 field players and 1 goalkeeper. Similar to soccer, this sport demands teamwork, requiring players to have close coordination to score against the opposing team's net.

The objective is to score as many goals as possible against the opposing team. Players are only allowed to use one hand to handle the ball, except for the goalkeeper, who can use both hands. Splashing water into the face of another player is considered a foul. If a player commits 5 fouls in a half, they're excluded from further play.

Regarding water polo betting on M88, it's similar to betting on other sports like soccer or handball, making it easy and potentially rewarding. Currently, M88 offers various betting options related to this sport. All you need is to understand the schedule, have some knowledge about the sport, and possess an account on M88 to participate in water polo betting.
